Satellite internet requires a separate dish (from a separate service provider than your TV). Second, cable internet is capable of massively-greater internet speeds than satellite internet. The best satellite internet tops out at 100Mbps – and only in some areas. Cable TV often provides that as a starting speed.

~~Cable vs Satellite TV in 2020: Who Wins? DIRECTV, DISH or ...~~

Satellite Internet Pros Satellite internet is faster than dialup. It'll depend on what package you buy, but you can expect satellite speeds to be 10x to 35x times faster than dialup. Satellite internet connections can handle high bandwidth usage, so your internet speed/quality shouldn't be affected by lots of users or "peak use times."
